

TAKE A MOMENT TO LOOK INTO BREAST CANCER

It is important that you too should think about it. In The Netherlands 1 in 7 women develops breast cancer.

Of these women 80 % make a full recovery. That is why early detection of breast cancer is so important.

MANY IDEAS ABOUT BREAST CANCER ARE INCORRECT

Breast cancer is not contagious!

You can continue to meet your friends just like before.

You cannot catch cancer by talking about it.

However, by talking about it you can find out what you could do to reduce your risk to get breast cancer and also to recognize the signs early so you can do something about it.

If you fall ill you haven't done anything wrong.

It is not your fault!

But you could do your very best to cope with the restrictions that cancer imposes on you.

You can draw strength from doing so.

You are not alone in this fight!

Your family and your friends can help you to deal with the illness.

WHAT DOES MAMMAROSA DO?

Mammarosa promotes informational sessions about breast cancer and guides self-help groups to share experiences.

The informational sessions are meant to remove the taboo concerning openly discussing breast cancer and to stimulate early detection of the disease.

Mammarosa provides breast cancer information in 12 languages.

HOW CAN MAMMAROSA BE OF HELP TO YOU?

Every year, in the Netherlands, 2.400 women who don't speak Dutch or who are poor readers develop breast cancer. It is Mammarosa's aim to support them by organizing self-help groups for fellow-sufferers.

Mammarosa is there for women who need extra help in relation to their health issues: this applies to about two million women in the Netherlands.

Mammarosa can help you to get all the information you need to make the right decisions.

Many of these women run the risk of not detecting their breast cancer in time.

Among these two million women there are many who are unable to read Dutch well, because they grew up with another language. There are also many women whose mother tongue is Dutch, but who have never learned to read and write well.
